and what have you

by BOB CRAIG

The following comments are taken from some of the editorial columns of area papers we receive each week on the election of John Tower to the U. S. Senate.

Joe Harrison, "The Texas Spur:"

"Republican John Tower was elected to the U. S. Senate Saturday, but I doubt very seriously that he was elected by Republicans.

"In my banner news story last week I predicted that if the Democrats failed to turn out in good number, Tower would win. My prediction came true, much to my dismay.

"Now there is talk that this is the last time that Texas will have solely a Democratic Primary, and the two party system is there to stay. This may be true, and I don't know but what I like the idea."

Jim Cornish, "The Post Dispatch:"

"Victory of Republican John Tower in the senatorial runoff Saturday will be the start for a long-needed two-party political system in Texas.

"We hope so.

"Tower's triumph indicated wide and deep dissatisfaction with the way things have been bouncing along in this state under the Democratic banner.

"Texas would be a whole lot better off with the two-party and a choice.

"Regardless of whether you are a Democrat or Republican, the principal that a political choice means better government is beyond argument."

Roy M. Craig, "Stamford American:"

"I was wrong. Yes, I was very much wrong about the election Saturday. I just couldn't believe Texans would elect an out and out avowed Republican to Congress. Maybe under the disguise of 'Democrats for' or some such as was the case when the majority voted for Eisenhower but not just plain Republican.

"There may have been many post mortems but the reason given most frequently was the election was an expression of dissatisfaction with the Kennedy administration in Washington, particularly because of the Cuban fiasco.

"This is the first opportunity voters have had of expressing themselves since Mr. Kennedy took office. The vote can be taken as a pretty big straw in the wind.

"What I am afraid of is that the state will now suffer patronage-wise. The Dallas area has seen several major installations curtailed, funds withheld and a threatened removal of hundreds of other federal employees. And the fact that a republican, Bruce Alger, is the Congressman is the reason. Politics is a great game of taking care of friends and punishing enemies."

Lowell Welch, "The Aspermont Star:"

"After surveying the 'wreckage' of Saturday's run-off election for United States Senator, one would have to come to the conclusion that the Demos want Texas to be declared A TWO-PARTY STATE.

"You've all, no doubt, heard the wise admonition: A house divided cannot stand."

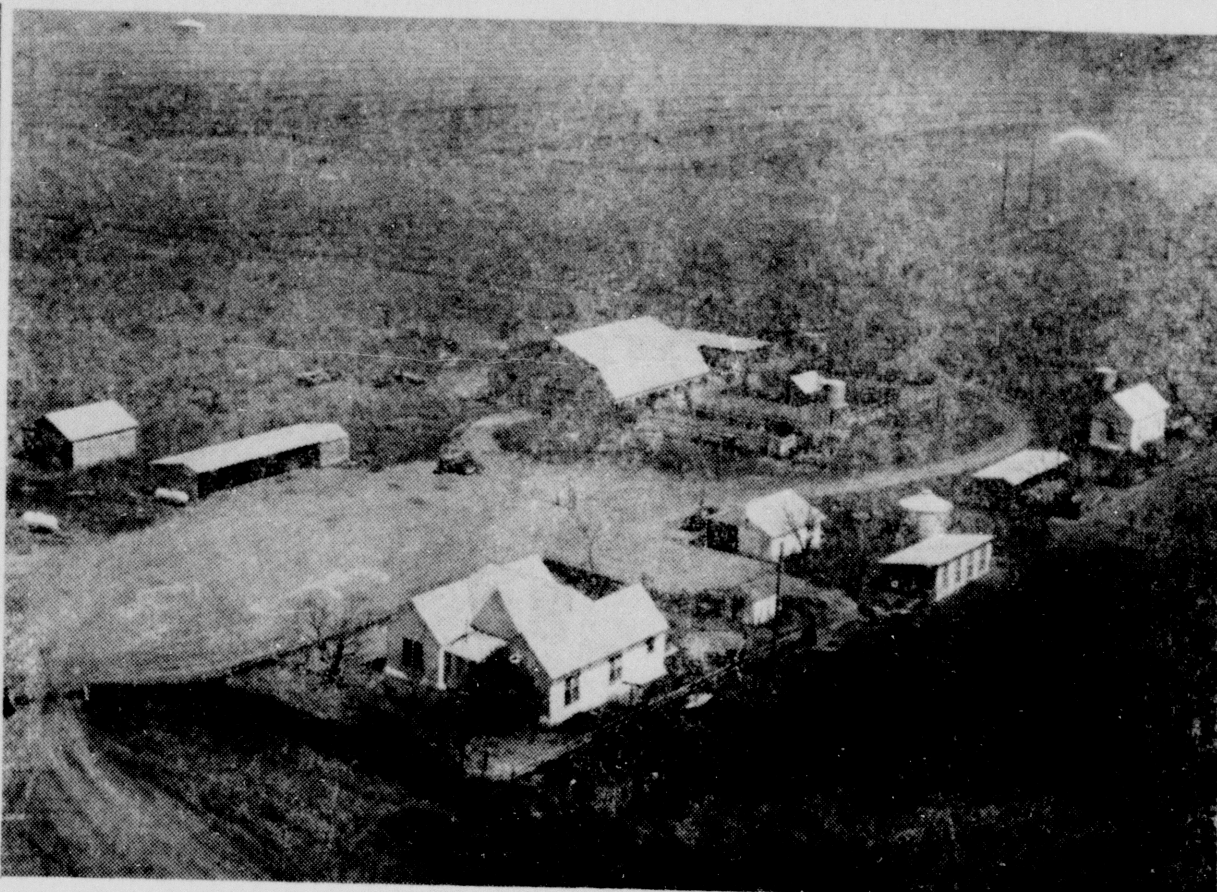

Well, that's the way it shapes up in the Lone Star State, Democratically speaking."

to .74 inches while 2.09 inches were received during the evening Sunday. The electrical storm late Monday night brought 1 inch of moisture.

Hail was most severe east of Hamlin, however, small amounts of pea sized hail fell in town. Robert Fowler of the Moore Elevator stated that the early maize crops in the Tuxedo area were beat down, and most of the cotton in all areas will have to be planted over because of the hail and washing of the land. He estimated about 95% of the wheat had been harvested before the rains began, although there is still some in the fields which likely will not be cut since it is still standing in water.

The tin roof was rolled up on one of the buildings at the Producers Bonded Warehouse, operated by L. H. McBride, during the high wind which accompanied the storm Monday night.

Besides some broken tree limbs, a few TV antennas bent and some leaking roofs there was no other damage reported in town.

There will be a noon luncheon for the expected 100 gin managers, visitors and cotton producers of northwest Texas.

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Seals, Carol and Henry of Orville have spent the last few days visiting in Hamlin with friends.

ORVILLE D. ROLAND

BCD Ends Manager's Job; to Hire Secretary

The Hamlin Board of Community Development's Board of Directors voted to terminate the position of manager in an effort to curtail expenses and stay within their budget.

It was announced Monday night at the first Mid-Year meeting of the organization by its President, Fred Smith.

Smith told the small group gathered for the meeting that this action was in no way a reflection on Orville Roland, present manager, either in his ability or the amount of good that he has done for the community in the two years he has served in this capacity, but simply a matter of economics.

He stated that the organization had a budget of over $9,500 and pledges of only $7,500 and this seemed the only place that expenses could be cut and still operate.

Roland will stay on the job until July 1 and then will be replaced by a secretary, Smith announced. We plan to continue with full program of work with the members being called on to take a greater part in the BCD's program, he continued.

In making the announcement Smith stated that most towns set their budget at about a dollar per capita and our budget has been set at nearly three dollars per capita. The board realized at the beginning of the year that they would have to take in more money or spend less. Because of this they have held more membership drives than have ever been held before, but were still unable to raise sufficient money to operate on.

As part of this effort to increase the pledges several individuals and organizations were recognized for their work on the drives.

Mrs. Max Murrell accepted a Community Service Award plaque for the Beta Theta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in behalf of the chapter's president, Mrs. W. A. Hawkins. The plaque was presented by Carl Murrell, general solicitation chairman of the BCD's "Operation—Better Hamlin," for the club's work on this project. Murrell also presented plaques to the Business and Professional Women's club and the Literary Club for their efforts to increase the BCD's membership. Mrs. Melvin Scott accepted the award for the B&PW club and Mrs. Arlie Casle accepted for the Literary Club.

Individual members of the clubs will be presented Certificates of Merit.

Edgar Duncan, special solicitation chairman, presented Certificate of Merit awards to the members of his committee for their work during the campaign.

Max Murrell, chairman of the Program of Work Committee, told of some of the projects the group plans to undertake in the future. Some of these include: Promote the Pied Piper Theme, Community Center and Livestock Show Barns, get the community working together and street paving.

Roland served as master of ceremonies for the meeting and President Smith extended a welcome to the 25 or so Hamlinites attending the Mid-Year meeting. He said it was "planned as a get-together with friends and neighbors to discuss our common interests." Joe Ford, secretary-treasurer, gave a financial report showing the difference between the budget and the pledges.

Many Expected for Rodeo, June 15-17

MOTORCADE TO ADVERTISE SHOW PLANNED MONDAY

Between 300 and 400 contestants are expected to be in Hamlin June 15-17 to compete for the three saddles to be awarded at the annual Hamlin Riding Club's Junior Rodeo. The saddles will be awarded to the three age groups competing in the rodeo.

The prize saddles have been donated by the Mid West Cooperative Oil Mill, the Pied Piper Mills and the Hawkins Pole Hereford Ranch.

The rodeo has been approved by the American Junior Rodeo Association this year which accounts for the increase in contestant from the 175 who entered last year according to the Riding Club.

To help publicize the rodeo a motorcade has been planned for Monday morning at 8:30 that will travel to Anson, Stamford, Haskell, Rule, Aspermont, Rotan and Roby. Every one who can make the trip has been invited to participate.

In getting the arena ready for the rodeo Dr. W. A. Hawkins announced that the club is spreading four-inches of sand over it to combat the dust that plagued the rodeo last year.

The rodeo will open Thursday with a big parade headed by the Hamlin High School band, that will also play during the performances. Area riding clubs; including Haskell, Stonewall, Fisher, Snyder, and Sweetwater; will take part in the parade. They will be competing for first, second and third place trophies. Local clubs and organizations have been invited to take part also.

The city is taking on a rodeo air with bunting hanging from the stores, put up there by members of the Riding Club.

The Hamlin Jaycees have agreed to help the Riding Club by parking cars and working the gate.

The three age groups and the events for each in the Junior rodeo will be: Boys and girls—12 years and under: pole bending, barrel racing, flag race, break away roping and steer riding. Girls, 13 to 15—barrel racing, pole bending, flag race, break away roping; and boys, 13 to 15—calf roping-tie down, calf roping-break away, steer riding, bareback bronc riding and ribbon roping. Girls, 16 to 19—barrel racing, pole bending, flag race, break away roping, and boys, 16 to 19—bull riding, bareback bronc riding, calf roping-tie down, ribbon roping.

Entries should be mailed to C. R. Reynolds Jr.

HK Ranches, operated by Helms and Koonsman, will furnish the stock for the rodeo this year with the exception of 64 roping head owned by the club.

DR. WILLIAM BEAZLEY SPEAKS TO LIONS LADIES NIGHT MEET

"If Hamlin is to be a better place to live, you will have to make it that way," Hamlin Lions Club members, wives and guests weretold Thursday night guests were told Thursday night by Dr. William O. Beazley, director of Institutional Services at Hardin-Simmons University.

Dr. Beazley spoke to the Ladies Night gathering at the Mid West Cooperative Oil Mill Guest House.

He challenged those attending as to what they were doing and were going to do about four important phases of our way of life—home, public schools, government and churches.

Dr. Beazley stated that if you do not have time to spend with your children you are too busy. Speaking about public schools he stated that we need to know who is teaching our children and what they are teaching them. Through our time and money we need to bring our teachers back up to the stature of importance in our community they deserve.

Pointing out the difference to the trends of government by the public, Dr. Beazley said that, "if we don't take an interest in where our government is headed pretty soon, I am afraid we will wake up to the fact that we no longer have a government to take an interest in."

He warned that we need to take a greater interest in the churches of our town pointing out the need for affiliation with them, regardless of denomination for the stabilization of their affords. "The strength of America is in the fiber of the people produced by it and the churches have a vital role in building this fiber," he said.

Dr. Beazley was introduced by Leldon Clifton, program chairman for the banquet.

George Campbell, president, served as master of ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnie K. Smith have recently returned from a visit in Oak Ridge, Tennessee with Mr. and Mrs. Max Scott and daughters, Debbie and Kim. Mrs. Scott is the former Charlene Smith. Besides visiting in Tennessee, the Smiths traveled through the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, parts of North Carolina, Northern Georgia, and the Civil War battlefields near Chattanooga, Tenn. Mr. Scott is a recent graduate of Purdue University where he was awarded the Doctor of Philosophy degree with a major in population genetics. He is now employed by Union Carbide Nuclear Company conducting research in Health physics.

would spell disaster to the agricultural economy, to relate business, and to constitute provisions of the government," King declared in a letter calling the meetings.

"Although we are advised that substantial changes in the bill will be made in House and Senate Committees, administration pressures and lack of public interest may make such changes most difficult to achieve," King reported.

The program for the meetings will consist of discussions by Fred H. Husbands, executive vice-president of the regional chamber; Lovan H. Walker, manager of the WTCC's Agriculture and Livestock Department; Millard Shivers, organizational director, Texas Farm Bureau; and Ray Bowden, secretary-treasurer, Texas Grain and Feed Association.

The Texas Cotton Ginners Association and the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association have invited their members to attend the meetings. Meetings are scheduled as follows:

40 Years Ago--

Some weeks ago you may have noticed where a Mr. J. W. Thompson was advertising for lost or stolen horses. At that time he had just stopped for a day or so in a local wagon yard. He hunted for those horses till he became about stranded financially, and then sold his claim, along also went his wagon and harness. That is not all. Last week while his son and a step son were handling horses northwest of town, where they had accepted a temporary home and work as cow herders, the step son, Earl Watts, age 13, had the misfortune of getting a leg broken, just below the left knee, when a horse fell back on him. This was bad, but about one hour later Carl Thompson, a son, was found in the road unconscious, apparently having been pulled from the horse he was riding by the one he was leading. Physicians were called and found the skull probably broken. Surgeons removed a piece of bone and up to this writing the lad had not regained his conscious mind. These unfortunate accidents and the loss of the horses seem more trouble than one man should have.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex.--From now until July 10 will be a period of testing how representative democracy works in Texas.

Legislature is to re-convene July 10 to make a fresh stab at writing a tax bill to raise some $350,000,000 for the next two years. Gov. Price Daniel has urged Texans to give the legislators and him their views on how the matter should be handled.

Governor Daniel is strongly opposed to the adoption of any sales tax plan designed to raise the major portion of this needed revenue. He used his influence in the regular session to block a move in this direction.

"But," said the governor, "if this is really what a majority of the people want, I don't see how I can go on fighting it."

He believes, however, that a very limited sales tax, which he terms "selective excise taxes," on only more expensive items, with the balance to be raised from gas pipeline taxes and increased interstate corporation franchise taxes, would be more fair and more acceptable to most Texans.

Only bill which came close to passing the Legislature was one in which the main money-raising feature was retail sales tax on items costing 25 cents and more, with food, medicine and farm necessities exempted. It also levied increased gas and corporation franchise taxes. Speaker James Turman cast the crucial vote that prevented the bill's being sent to the governor.

Actually, the difference between the governor and those voting for the sales tax "package" is mostly one of degree. Governor Daniel grants the need for some sales (or excise) taxes, but feels that they should be stringently limited. A majority of the Legislature cast votes indicating they felt Texas has reached the point where only a broad-based "growth" tax, such as the sales tax, can raise enough money to meet the state's increasing needs.

Now it is the people's turn to say what they think. If enough speak up, the legislature will have little difficulty in deciding what to do when it reconvenes July 10.

At that late hour, getting broad agreement in the Legislature will be more important than passing the bill that suits the governor. Bills passed by only a simple majority cannot become effective until 90 days after the session ends, but bills passed by a two-thirds majority of both houses can take effect immediately. That late in the summer, the legislature will need to get two-thirds vote for immediate effect so there will be money and authorization to keep the state going after the new fiscal year begins Sept. 1.

And a two-thirds majority is also sufficient to override a governor's veto. Oil On Troubled Waters -- A number of lawmakers had their "backs up" before the governor made his statewide "report to the people" after the regular session closed. But the governor's message smoothed some feathers.

Many lawmakers expected Daniel to roast the Legislature for its failure to take care of money matters during the 140-day session. They had their mittees can be compelled to tell the truth or face perjury penalties under a measure that passed both houses.

Last year the perjury conviction of former Insurance Commissioner J. Byron Saunders was voided by the courts on grounds that the anti-perjury statute did not cover statements to legislative committees.

This bill spells out the right of legislative committees to make investigations and makes it a penal offense (two to ten years) to lie deliberately to such a committee.

RATLIF IS PRO TEM--Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford was elected by his senate colleagues to serve as president pro tempore of the Senate for the internal between the regular session's end and the special session's beginning.

President of the Senate presides in the absence of the lieutenant governor and is second in line of succession to the governor. He usually serves as "governor for a day" when both the governor and the lieutenant governor are out of the state.

Ratliff, a radio station owner, has been in the Legislature since 1951, in th Senate since 1955.

SHORT SHORTS

Texas Aeronautics Commission, which past Legislatures have threatened to abolish, fared much better this year. Bills were passed broadening the Commission's scope of activity and allocating to it a portion of the unclaimed tax refunds on aviation gasoline.

Senate adopted the appropriations conference committee report-a plan that called for spending $383,500,000 from general revenue, compared to the present $320,000,000 general revenue appropriation. Welfare programs, the state hospital system, junior colleges and the state senior college and university system would be among the main beneficiaries.

Senate also passed an equally ineffective $810 a year raise for school teachers before adjourning.

All was for naught, however, when the tax bill failed to pass. 14 AMENDMENTS PROPOSED--Texas voters can get ready for a bumper crop of 14 proposed constitutional amendments to be on the November ballot in 1962.

Some of the amendments are of major importance; some are only local in effect and application. Among them are proposals to:

1. Increase maximum possible yearly payments to the permanently disabled from $1,500,000 to $2,500,000.
2. Allow the state water development board to purchase water storage space in reservoirs constructed by other units of government, such as the federal government.
3. Permit the Veterans Land Board to sell forfeited land to non-veteran buyers to liquidate land the state is "stuck with."
4. Authorize the Legislature to provide for "trial de novo" (trial anew) in appeals from decisions of state agencies.
5. Allow the Legislature to name successors to officials knocked out by a major catastrophe such as enemy attack.
6. Raise the present $47,000,000 a year ceiling on public welfare payments to $52,000,000.
7. Allow the Legislature to set up hospital districts without a special constitutional amendment for each one.
8. Allow the Legislature to delegate to local government control of traffic, parking and sanitation on public beaches.

NEINDA PHILOSOPHER ADMITS WATCHING TELEVISION ALL DAY MAY BE BORING, BUT PLOWING IS ALSO

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route 1 discusses the television situation this week, without any noticeable effects.

Dear editor:

I was reading a newspaper last night while my wife was watching television, you can say this for television, it's easier to read while it's going on than while your wife is. I mean, whatever faults television has, it sure cuts down on the conversation; at any rate, what I was reading was an article by the new chairman of the Federation Communications Commission, the outfit that's supposed to supervise the airways.

According to Chairman Minow, television has got to get better if it's to stay on the air.

He said if you want to find out how bad television is, "sit down in front of your set when your station comes on in the morning and stay there until it signs off that night." He said you'd see a procession of junk, violence, silliness, and commercials, with only a few things you'll enjoy, and most of all, he added, "boredom." Now I'm no authority on television, but I'm not sure watching the thing fourteen hours in a stretch and complaining because you come out bored, is any real test. I have a notion if Chairman Minow will get on my tractor, glue himself to the seat, bend his head over, and watch the rows fourteen hours a day while he goes up one and down another, he'll get off extremely bored, not to mention other things.

As for violence on television, I'll admit it's bad, but saying it'll have to be eliminated if T. V. is to stay on the air is like saying crime stories will have to be eliminated from newspapers if they're to stay in business. It's like saying violence will have to be eliminated from history books if they're to be read. It's like saying Shakespeare would have been an eduring success if he had cut out all them suicides and stabblings and swordplay.

Understand, I'm not in favor of violence. For one thing, it takes more energy than I'm Thursday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rogers were Mrs. Jim Hodges and two children of Phoenix, Arizona, Mrs. Leon Rogers of Carlsbad, New Mexico, Mrs. Galloway of Sweetwater, Mrs. Dillard Williams and two children of Merkel, Mrs. Stanley Kirby and two children of Anson and Mrs. Wes Niedecken of Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Dean and children of Iran visited his mother, Mrs. Faye Dean. Dean entered McMurry College June 5 and his wife and children are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Reynolds.

interested in spending, but on television, when an outlaw gets shot, even the kids know it's only acting, the bullets are fakes and the same characters will get shot again next week, but where the Federal Communications Commission will run into trouble is when it tries to convince the kids only fake bullets are used in war.

Television can continue its violence and stay on the air, but can man continue his and stay on the earth? I could give you the answer, but excuse me, Wagon Train is coming on just as soon as the newscast about the violence in the Congo goes off.

Yours faithfully

The carefully crafted Body by Fisher has you livin' in luxury (and in comfort-high seats where the sight-seein' comes easy). That Jet-smooth Chevy ride, with a sinewy Full Coil spring at each wheel, gentles you past all the wrinkles and ruts in the roads (there's even a team of over 700 behind-the-scenes "shock absorbers" to hush up road surface mumbblings and grumbblings). All in all, Chevy's light-steerin', easy-goin' ways just don't leave much for you to do but feel good. And that's exactly the way your Chevrolet dealer wants you to feel --as you can plainly see in those beautiful June buys he's got bustin' out all over.

Ask Amy

WORD FROM THE WHITE HOUSE IS 'SHORT'

Dear Amy:

A discussion came up at our mah-jong game last week about the proper dress length this year. Each article we read on the fashion trends quotes a different dress length. One said 15 inches from the floor; the other 16 and the next article said 17. Since we'll think our first lady Mrs. Kennedy dresses exquisitely, we were wondering what length she wears her dresses.

Before we shorten all our clothes which we feel are too long, we would like very much to know.

The Mah-jong Girls

Dear Girls:

According to Miss Pamela Turner, Mrs. Kennedy's Press Secretary, the exact length of Jacqueline's afternoon dresses is "White House secret . . . but it's no secret that she is wearing them short."

Dear Amy:

I'm 15 years old and my parents do not allow me to date boys . . . even during the day! They say I'm too young or it's too dangerous or they never did it at my age. I tell them that other girls my age, even some younger girls, go out so it couldn't be that dangerous and besides, times have changed.

Then they always get mad and say times haven't changed because other kids at that time did go out at 15. It doesn't make sense. Don't you think I ought to be able to date?

My parents say that your advice is pretty good and they would probably listen to what you say.

Lonely for Fun

Dear Lonely:

This is for your parents. Please show it to them.

Fifteen year old girls do date on occasions. Most of the time, however, in groups. Mixing socially with boys and girls her own age is an important part of growing up. If you have brought her up to conduct herself like a lady, you have nothing to fear. So long as she doesn't abuse the privilege, it's far better to allow her to date (with your permission) than for her to do so without it!

Dear Amy:

I'm a very discouraged mother. My son is now 10 years old but still his friends call him a sissy (frankly, I have to agree with them). We have done all we can to change his ways but to no avail. His brother even has tried to interest him in sports, but this did not appeal to him.

All he does all day is either read one of those girl-mystery stories or play records and dance to them. One day recently, he came home crying because the children wouldn't let him play. The reason was he wanted to pretend he was a teen-age girl and they wouldn't let him.

Amy, how can I change his ways?

Dear Distressed:

To change his ways you must find the cause. He may have a hormonal imbalance or a psychological tendency towards femininity. Ask your family doctor to recommend an endocrine specialist and do what he suggests. Don't let it go!

Dear Amy:

I'm dating a man of 47 who is wonderful in every way. He has one peculiarity that I can't stand. Instead of keeping his change and bills in his trouser pocket or wallet like other men, he carries a change purse like a woman. When the occasion arises, he pulls out his little pocketbook in front of people and this embarrasses me to death.

I'm sure he's serious about me and if it weren't for the change purse, I would jump at the opportunity to land him. What would you do?

Dear Better:

It matters little where he keeps his money so long as he is willing to share it with you. Surprise him with a wallet and make the change for him!

PERSONAL TO JOE:

I cannot answer your questions in this column, son. Send me your grandmother's address and stay there until you hear from me.

Please address all letters to: AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

O-Ki-Hi Camp Fire Girls Completing Firemakers Rank

The O-Ki-Hi Camp Fire group, the girls who are in the 8th grade, are completing their Firemakers rank, the 3rd years rank in Camp Fire.

Recently as a group project, the girls made stepping stones with each girl's name in cement, to be used as the beginning of a walk in front of the Camp Fire Lodge.

Another Firemaker requirement is to plan and prepare a complete meal for guests, making a menu, marketing, and actually cooking the entire meal. The twelve girls divided into two groups, and served a supper for each other. Table decorations and place cards were also made.

One of the purposes of Camp Fire is to have fun and a great time was had last Monday night when the twelve girls and their leaders had an overnight Camp-out at Johnson's Frog Park. The girls prepared three meals and weathered a storm to complete their requirement.

The O-Ki-Hi Camp Fire Girls will have a ceremonial in June and receive bracelets for completing the Firemaker rank. These girls are Jan Albritton, Jane Ferguson, Helen Hastings, Johnnie Harbert, Kay Hodnett, Glenda Sue Hudspeth, Judy Jenkins, Linda Legan, Julie Robb, Cynthia Stephens, Sherilynne Witt and Margie Young. The sponsors and leaders are Mrs. Joe Hudspeth, Mrs. John D. Ferguson, Mrs. Dean Witt and Mrs. Wayne Hodnett.

OLD GLORY NEWS--

By HELEN DIERS

The "Ex-Seniors" of Old Glory High School of 1961 have returned from a very enjoyable trip to the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee. On Monday night, May 22, they graduated at 8:00 p.m. Sanford Woodbridge was salutatorian and Helen Diers received the valedictorian award. She also received the scholastic award (average-.96.6 for the year). After graduation, the boys (Sanford W., Remond Pierce, and Billy Sellers) and their dates went bowling at the Stamford Lanes until 2:30 a.m. This was an all-night graduation party, sponsored by the Sweet Home Baptist Church. Supervisors were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pritchard and Rev. and Mrs. Tom Reiff, and two other mothers.

The following is an account of the trip. Travelers were: Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Gill, Helen D., Remond P., Sanford W. and Billy S.

On May 23, at 4:00 a.m., the seniors left on their trip. They ate lunch in Texarkana (by the way, breakfast was served at Haskell), and by nightfall were in Little Rock at the Howard Johnson Motel. Entertainment for the evening featured fifteen hamburgers and several games of miniature golf. They left early the next morning at 3:30 a.m. Less time was made on this day because of stops at souvenir shops, a frontier town, Shiloh National Park, and steep mountain roads. They stayed at the Albert Pick Motel in Chattanooga. Most of the swimming pools were heated, so they were swimming at night. The next day a sight-seeing trip was made to an interesting caged animal jungle, Crystal Caves, the Confederation, and a ride up Lookout Mountain. Since it was raining, they could not go to Rock City or Point Park. All of this was at Chattanooga. By nightfall, the seniors were in Garlinburg, which is at the edge of the Smoky Mountains. Their headquarters while here was the Jack Huff Motel. Bowling, swimming, eating and sight-seeing, plus a certain amount of sleeping provided the entertainment. On Saturday, a trip to Clingman's dome was interesting. The dome is 6,663 feet above sea level and is above the treetops of all the Smoky Mts. Up here, one is in the clouds. Of course, bears furnished amusement for all concerned, especially for Billy while he was taking a picture of one. He was slightly close, but snapped the picture before the bear started after him.

On May 28, the seniors started back home. They visited the Hermitage, which was Andrew Jackson's home, near Nashville. They spent the night in Memphis at the Town Park Motel. The huge bridge over the Mississippi River is at Memphis and an hour was spent at the river. The state of Arkansas was covered the next day and the night was spent in Fort Smith at the Holiday Inn. A movie and bowling provided the entertainment.

Oklahoma was reached the next day at noon. The amusement park was well taken in. Bowling, miniature golfing, and go-carting took care of the evening and morning until

WE ARE CHALLENGED:

TO OPEN NEW WORLDS TO FREEDOM

The dream of freedom is buried deep within every man. But today, it is rising to the surface in volcanic eruptions of hope and hate and fear. Seventeen new nations were born in Africa alone last year. Their birth pangs shook the world and shake it yet. For the dream of freedom does not translate readily into reality.

The illiterate millions roused from ancient sleep wake to responsibilities of citizenship they cannot comprehend. They clamor for an end to age-old degradations — poverty, hunger, pain, individual earnings of less than $100 a year.

They stand a puzzled people. We are challenged to help them.

The Communist world is only too ready to help. Technicians, teachers, trade missions come with skilled hands and blank checks . . . not only to Africa and Asia, but to our very doorstep in Latin America. To the impoverished millions, democracy and communism are only words. Freedom is a word that often spells confusion. Communism seeks to create and exploit this confusion.

We are challenged to counter Communism, to help bring millions into a world of individual freedom and opportunity under law. We seek this not merely for our security. The world is grown too small for anything less than moral kinship.

What can you do? Make our public goals your private goals. Put real meaning into our Bill of Rights. Blot out racial and religious discrimination, the hypocrisy in our democracy. Know all the challenges. Know how to meet them. Begin by reading the new report of the President's Commission on National Goals. It maps programs for action in the 'Sixties on all fronts.

Both President Eisenhower and President Kennedy urge you to read, to think about, to act upon this Report, entitled "Goals for Americans." It is available in hardcover and $1 paperback at bookstores, or in the free digest version offered below. If we are to help open new worlds to freedom . . . if we are to survive in freedom, we must strike a balance between comfort and purpose; we must pair the pursuit of happiness with the pursuit of excellence in our private lives as well as our national life. FREEDOM IS NOT A GIFT BUT A TASK.

FREE DIGEST of the Report of the President's Commission on National Goals. Write: "Goals," Box 1776, N. Y. 17, N. Y.

FAIRVIEW NEWS--

By MRS. ELMER JOINER

The weather always makes news and we have an abundance of that this week. Hail and soaking rains fell Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Some vicious looking clouds were sighted both days and many people sought shelter in their storm cellars, but only hail and a driving rain developed each day. The rain varied in different localities but several inches fell every where and all of the fields are standing full of water.

Farmers had just completed planting cotton, so there is a lot of rushing around to find seed to plant again. It was bad but we aren't the only ones to get damage as many parts of the state have been worse hit than we, and as the saying goes you can make a crop in weeds better than in dust, so this may all be for the best.

Mrs. Delbert Barron spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Greenway, and will remain another week. Her husband and sons came for the week end.

Mrs. Greenway's sister, Mrs. Edith Lafore, who has been with her for the past two months, spent the last week on the plains visiting relatives and tending to business in Lubbock, but she returned Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Whitaker of Shallowater, were visitors in our community Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Gray went to Graham to attend a reunion for her family.

Mrs. Jack Wright went to Dallas Sunday to enter Baylor Hospital for surgery, scheduled for 7 a.m. Monday morning. This is a follow up surgery pertaining to the operation she had two years ago, for a lung condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Valliant, resident of the Plainview community, east of our church, are building a very nice new brick home on their farm.

With so many moving to town it is good to see new homes being built in the rural area.

Mrs. John Beauchamp was in church again after another stay in the hospital and surgery on her eye.

A good number of people from this community attended the funeral services for Mrs. J. L. Wilson last Monday, held in the Caps Baptist Church near Abilene.

Rev. and Mrs. Doyle Combs and children and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Joiner had lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Goodwin and Linda Sunday.

The pastor and family went home Sunday afternoon as they wanted to be in Dallas Monday morning for Mrs. Wright's surgery. A special service was planned for Sunday night, following the Training Union but it was rained out.

All of the wheat was combined before the big rains and hail, which was very fortunate, as it would have ruined it. The maize was beat up but we hope that it will put out again and be O.K.

Mrs. W. S. Newland returned home Saturday from Pasadena, Texas where she visited her daughter.

Mrs. Raleigh Bond visited with Mrs. Earl Herbst Sunday afternoon.

LOCAL BUSINESS . . .

S. S. Talbert, Ph. D.
Chairman, Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

"My location was one of the best in town."

"I had a line of goods well suited to the local situation."

"I had the lowest mark-up in town. I just didn't get enough business."

These are the comments of a small city dry goods merchant who recently closed his store.

He added that he kept his prices low by saving on advertising. In fact, he did no advertising at all before his closing-out sale. He thought he was passing the savings from not advertising on to his customers.

Actually the retailer had fallen into a trap which slams shut the doors on many merchants. He was making an error in logic and arithmetic which was cheating his customers and himself.

No merchant ever passed on savings which came from lack tiser may think he is saving. But in penny-pinching he neglects volume and net profits.

When advertising increases volume, sales costs, storage costs and waste decrease. Overall profit increases, and lower prices to the consumer follow.

The retailer who thinks he is favoring his customers by not advertising should ask himself: Which retail stores throughout the nation are selling at the lowest prices? He may find the answer quickly. The stores which operate successfully on the lowest margin of profit are those which advertise the most.

Contract Let for Farm Highways

A contract for 6.3 miles of construction on F. M. Roads 2404 and 605 in Jones County has been awarded to a Symour firm, it was announced in Austin this week by the State Highway Commission.

Ferrier Brothers submitted the low bid of $156,890 on the project. Grading, structures, base & surfacing FM 2404 from FM 605 near Hodges to Taylor County line FM 605-FM605 in Hodges is expected to take 110 working days, according to J. C. Roberts, District Highway Engineer at Abilene.

W. F. Dixon, Resident Engineer at Anson will be in active charge of the project while it is under construction.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Robert Fielder To Direct Band For Patriots Day

Dean Johnson, Chairman of the American Legion "Patriots Day" celebration scheduled for July 4th in Fair Park Stadium today announced that Robert Fielder, Band Director of Abilene High School will again conduct the community band concert scheduled for the evening of July 4th as a part of the celebration.

In making the announcement Johnson said, "The American Legion is immensely enthused that Mr. Fielder should take time to again direct this effort. We know that Abilene and area musicians will be pleased to have the opportunity of working with Mr. Fielder on this Patriots Project. This year we intend to give the Community Band an opportunity to play their concert in two parts, one early in the ceremonies and one at a scheduled spot in the program. Certainly the outstanding music added greatly to last years observance and we know the public is in for a treat during this years celebration."

In accepting the responsibility of putting the band together Fielder expressed hope that the many area musicians would take part in the band and invited them to contact them at his school office or residence.

PUBLIC HEALTH CAMPAIGN AGAINST POLIO UNDERWAY

The greatest public health campaign since Teddy Roosevelt's day is underway across the nation and Texas. This time the enemy is polio instead of "Yellow Jack."

If the same relentless attack is pursued in the eradication of polio, it too may become almost a memory as yellow fever became in a few short years following Dr. Walter Reed's discovery that mosquitoes were the carriers of dread "Yellow Jack."

Vaccination is the key to complete victory over the crippling effects of paralytic poliomyelitis. The Salk vaccine has proven overwhelmingly effective as a preventive against the disease.

With the advent of the Salk vaccine, the incidence of paralytic polio has steadily declined in Texas from 816 cases in 1955 to a recent low last year of 118.

So far during 1961, paralytic polio cases are running slightly below last year's figures. At the end of the first 18 weeks six cases of polio compared to nine cases during the same period last year and 92 cases in 1955.

However, the fact of the matter is that there is still a huge reservoir of unprotected persons who could fall victim to the disease if a severe outbreak should occur.

Especially vulnerable are pre-school age children. Records show, most polio cases strike children under five years of age.

Also, unprotected young adults — especially parents of young children — are often-times stricken. The intensive anti-polio campaign is directed towards "babies and breadwinners."

This slogan is the title of a pamphlet outlining procedures to follow in local campaigns. Step-by-step items for conducting successful vaccination programs are outlined.

Program procedures are performed by local authorities. Program advice is available from the State Health Department in Austin. (A weekly feature from Public Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

'FRIENDLY PERSUASION' AND 'WICHITA' BOOKED AT DRIVE IN

Some pictures become classics in time, and such a picture is "Friendly Persuasion," produced by Allied Artists. The producer and director of the film, William Wyler, has since made his name very famous with his fine direction of "Ben-Hur." Critics have frequently raved about this very fine picture which seems to have something in it for everyone! It won a Gold Medal Award from Parents Magazine, and Hedda Hopper, after seeing the film said, "He (William Wyler) proves all over again that to make an excellent picture all you need is a good story, a good director and good actors. This film has heart, comedy, spiritual beauty and the finest acting I've ever witnessed!"

The picture which is a masterful blend of high comedy, breath-taking action and intense drama, tells the story of a gay, happy Quaker family in 1862 that finds its happiness and security threatened with the Civil War.

Much interest in the picture centers around Anthony Perkins, a brilliant young actor who is currently the rage with most people because of his recent performance as the star of "Psycho." The picture will open next Friday at the Rouge Theatre with "Wichita."

To complete the large supporting cast, Wyler hand-selected some of the finest actors of Hollywood, the Broadway stage and television.

Richard Eyer, 11 years of age and undoubtedly Hollywood's outstanding child actor, is cast as the young son of Cooper and Miss McGuire. Robert Middleton has one of his finest roles as Cooper's best friend and spirited rival in the weekly horse race to Sunday church meeting.

Others in the featured cast include Walter Catlett, Richard Hale, Joel Fluellen, Theodore Newton, John Smith, Mary Carr and an exciting new personality, Samantha, the crankiest goose in America.
